THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)
MARCH 25, 1904, NORWAY AND SOUTH PARIS, MAINE.
VOLUME XXXV

Death of Bessie E. Horne.
Alarm of Fire.
SOUTH PARIS.
Injured in the Woods.

The sad news was received Wednesday forenoon by many friends in Norway of the death of Bessie E. Horne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Horne, which occurred in Lewiston at midnight, Tuesday. She was a native of this village and during her residence here and the summers and visits spent here had endeared herself to a large circle of friends who deeply mourn their loss. She was popular in social and musical circles in Lewiston. For several months she had been assistant in the public library where her services were valuable and highly appreciated.

She had been sick with a cold a few days but not seriously so until Sunday, when a physician was called. Monday peritonitis developed and although all that could be done was done she passed away. She was but twenty-one years of age.

She resided in Norway until ten years of age when the family moved to Lewiston. She finished a course at Jordan High school, winning honors in the English branches and essays. She studied vocal and instrumental music under excellent teachers and was a member of the Clavier club and Festival chorus. She was active and faithful in the Sunday school work of the Pine street Congregational church, in the primary department, where she was highly successful.

Funeral services are held in Lewiston this Thursday afternoon at two o'clock and Friday services will be at H. L. Horne's residence in this village also at two o'clock.

Fred W. Pratt was home over Sunday. Perry Russell is visiting some time at G. H. Bennett's.

Mr. Porter Seavey is improving after her recent illness.

The ladies will have a Leap Year ball in Norway Opera House, Fast night, April 21.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. H. D. Smith Wednesday evening, March 30. Let there be a good attendance.

Have you wants? If so read our want column. See pages 3 and 8. Help wanted, farm hands, women and horses.

Ellis Louise Hill of Bridgton, who has pleased our people at her several appearances in our village, is to read at the men's circle, March 31.

The store in the Opera House block vacated by Robert Bernart is being repaired and fitted up for the business of The Smiley Shoe Store.

"Present religious conditions under prophetic light" will be Pastor A. H. Erickson's theme next Sunday at G. A. R. hall at 2:30 p. m. Sunday school at 1:30.

Howard B. Young is having his house next to lower primary school house repaired and some extensive improvements, such as a bathroom, etc.

The fire alarm will be tested by Chief Engineer Geo. F. Hathaway and Howard B. Young between twelve and one o'clock this Friday noon. Don't be alarmed if you hear it strike.

A bill has recently passed both the national Senate and House of Representatives and is awaiting the President's signature, giving Samuel H. Legrow a pension of $24 per month.

It seems that Margaret Baker of this town is a member of the insurance firm of W. J. Wheeler & Co. of South Paris. It has been so surmised for some years, but Miss Baker is not to remain in cognate but allow her name to appear as a member of the firm.

William B. Tee, who is in a hospital in Washington as a result of a fall on icy sidewalk, which injured his leg, is unfortunately not recovering as well as was hoped. The injury is more serious than at first supposed and recovery is slow.

S. Anna Heath of West Sumner has been calling on friends in the village. She says she is a native of Maine but her adopted State is Illinois. She is gathering evidence to purify the U. S. Pension business and to protect the veterans, who are dependent on pensions.

The annual circle under the auspices of the men will be at the Congregational vestry Thursday evening, March 31. Plenty to eat, a good entertainment and a jolly good time has been the order of the evening in years past and will be this year.

The thaw has contributed so much water to the lake and stream that the Oxford Light Company are running most of the time with water power, using steam to help when the heaviest demand is made for power. Eugene Stevens is fireman at the station.

Last Friday evening, following the regular meeting of Mount Hope Rebekah lodge, a box supper was held. On account of the disagreeable weather, the attendance was not great, but everyone had a most delightful time. After the boxes and refreshments were served, the members united in games of Pic.

Need we say any more?

Robert Bickford spent a few days last week in Lewiston visiting Frank Young who is quite sick. Mr. Young has charge of the surveying of the Canadian Pacific branch on which the Bickford brothers are employed, and will be remembered as the surveyor of the ill-starred Oxford Central Railroad.

At a hunting party, composed of M. W. Sampson, W. A. Bicknell, W. L. Libby and L. H. Cushman went to Bolster's Mills one day the first of the week, and secured twenty rabbits in front of a young dog of John Hancock, who accompanied the party. Rabbit pie was served to many friends after their return.

The afternoon tea held by the Mothers' Club at the lower church vestry proved to be quite successful in spite of the storm. The principal feature was a talk by Mr. Cotton, which was helpful to all. He spoke of the atmosphere of the home, of making it bright and cheerful, in fact making it such a place that it would be more attractive to the boy and girl than any other place. Many parents hear their children pray but we should do more, we should let our children hear us pray. Music and refreshments and a social time helped to make the afternoon pleasant for all. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Stephen B. Cummings, Tuesday, March 29th, the subject—Honor, Honesty, Courage.

At twenty minutes to five Sunday afternoon, the fire alarm was rung at Box 46, and all the companies together with a host of citizens, men and women, young and old, large and small turned out promptly. The occasion was a small blaze in Mrs. Hannah Billings' house on Main below Steep Falls, in the portion occupied by her, and caught in the fire near the place where a stove pipe passed through. A stream was put on from Hose 3, which promptly quenched the fire. The damage was by water and amounted to $25. Insurance was carried by Howe's agency and has been promptly adjusted.

Annual Military Ball.
The members of Company D are making elaborate preparations for the annual ball, April 1, and no pains will be spared to make it the most successful the company has ever given. The drill by Company C is a fine one, spoken of very highly by those who have seen it, and there will be good music by Stearns' orchestra. Several officers of other companies, the regiment and the regular army have been invited, and with their ladies will attend. The following gentlemen have the ball in charge: Hall Committee—Capt. J. W. Nash, Lieutenants F. A. Hayden, G. A. Wilson, Jr., Aids—non-commissioned officers. Honorary aids—Col. E. F. Smith, Maj. B. F. Bradbury, Lieut. James Palmer, Adj. Merton L. Kimball, Q. M. S. A. J. Stearns, S. Maj. Roy Porter, G. O. Frothingham, J. Fletcher, Dr. J. G. Littlefield, C. S. Akers.

The Calico Ball.
Unique in its inception and successful in its carrying out, was the calico ball given by the Veranda Club, last Thursday evening. Invitations had been sent to neighboring places and quite a number of people came, including many who are not usually attendants on dances at the Opera House. There were 30 couples in the crowd and many more than a hundred were on the floor. The order of dancing comprised many of the older dances, and were heartily carried through. Music was by an orchestra of four pieces under the leadership of W. S. Stearns. Several people in mentioning it to the Advertiser have declared it was the best time they had had this season.

Ice cream and cake were sold by the ladies. There was only one trouble with it and that was—not enough to supply all who wanted to buy. In a word, the order of the Calico Ball was made to the best calico costume, and was taken by Arthur Hayden and Tena Tubbs, whose costumes were very fetching.

The profits were very close to $50, not including a donation of $5, received from a well-wisher. The money planned to be devoted to the purchase of a new organ for the Veranda Club have worked hard and have every reason to feel happy because of their success, which in a large measure is due to the courage and enthusiasm of the president, Mrs. Emma Cullinan.

Marbles, the sign of spring!
Mrs. Asa Swift is quite sick.
Fred Wentzel has gone to Auburn to work.
Two robins were seen in Brown's grove, Thursday morning, March 24.

BETHEL.
Much Excitement.
The earthquake, Monday morning, at near 1 o'clock, was a shaky event. Almost everybody was awakened by it and a majority of them realized what it was, while many imagined all sorts of trouble about their premises, as horses getting cast or stuck in trouble, and hurried themselves into their clothes and searched their premises all over, finding everything all right, and still wondering what that noise was.
Many who realized what it was claim to be the severest they ever experienced. The rattled doors, stoves and crockery but not to a damaging extent. Postmaster Billings' parrot dropped from his perch and went through the bottom of his cage to the floor. Bricks were thrown from the tops of chimneys in the village and other noticeable effects were visible.
Mrs. Goddard is still confined to the house.
The lumbermen are nearly all out of the woods.
Sheriff Bird of Bryant's Pond was in Bethel, Monday.
John Haggood is out again after a four weeks sickness with grip.
Howard Wiley is assisting in the store while his father is away in Portland.
The Edwards Bros. have 4,000 cords of pulp wood on the two branches of Alder river.
Frank Barrett is confined to the house of his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Abbott, where he receives the best of care.
John Coolidge and family have moved into their late purchase on Church St., the Philbrooks stand opposite the butter factory.
A. W. Bean and wife, who have so ably taken charge of the town farm for several years are going on their farm lately purchased known as the Rander Bean farm near East Bethel.
I. S. Morrill has been running both his mills for nearly two weeks, but the warmer weather is giving a better head of water. He has the largest amount of birch for birch and long lumber to work up than ever worked before in one season.
A daughter of Mrs. George D. Morrill aged 13 years, died at the home of Isaac Morrill in the village, Sunday morning, at 5 o'clock of gangrenous appendicitis. An operation was performed the day before, but the conditions of the case proved beyond the help of medical skill. The funeral took place, Monday afternoon, at Mr. Morrill's, attended by Rev. Mr. Potter of the M. E. church. The burial was in Pine Hill cemetery in Masson.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Hard for any woman to do household work—attend to daily duties with a constantly aching back. Every woman should learn the cause of backache and the cure.

Doan's Kidney Pills

relieve a bad back and cure it—cure every kidney and bladder disorder, from backache to diabetes.

Mrs. C. F. Goodnow, living at 143 Washington street, New Britain, Conn., says: "I gave a testimonial in December, 1899, touching the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, and in the statement said that I had been bothered with my back and kidneys for over thirteen years, not constantly, but when I caught cold it generally settled in my back, making it lame and sore. Often the pain through the small of my back was so severe as to make me cry out. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and procured some from E. W. Thompson & Co.'s drug store, on Main street. They helped my back immediately, and in a short time relieved me of the trouble. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at intervals during the last five years, when I felt an attack of backache coming on, and they always brought instant relief. I am never without them in the house."

CATARH.

Called an American disease, is cured by an American medicine, originated and prepared in the most catarrhal of American countries. That medicine is known as "Cure for Catarrh." It cures radically and permanently, in that it removes the cause, cleansing the blood of scrofulous and all other impurities. It overcomes all the effects of catarrh, too, and builds up the whole system.

The Fault Finder.

[The following verses were read before Lone Mountain Grange at Andover in the recent prize contest.]

Thirty and forty years ago the boys built the schoolhouse here.

The girls swept and kept the room;

We employ a student and the broom.

To use the dustpan and the broom.

We used to study by the open firelight

Full late in the night.

Now the average boy passes his evenings

Playing whist or practising with his pipe.

The scholars studied what was practical

And graduated only at 21. Now the conditions we deplore.

They are most all out of school at 16 with heads filled with lots of trash

They will never use outside the schoolhouse door.

We saw none of this kind of performance in our schools.

They say "a necessary exercise to work up a muscle;

The girls worked their lips up at the spinning wheel then.

The boys at the woodpile had to hustle.

Diverse other cunning ways our parents had for exercising our muscles;

In the good old bygone days

Of the hoop skirt and bustle.

We used to cut brush, dig rocks and stumps,

Or hoe in the garden and dig a long

Now the boy is off playing ball or tennis on the lawn.

While his father patiently hoes the corn.

The standard of our modern schools and colleges

Must be getting pretty middling low.

When the most and the best we can hear of is how they can play ball and row.

The folks stay away from church these days,

They have dispersed with family prayers;

Not one of them can tell me a prayer.

Can knit the socks she wears.

We elect a man to office now,

Who never paid a mortgage in his life.

In fact the house he lives in is done twice as well

When they have taxed everything the poor farmer has

From his jewanap to his drag he has from a

They send around the pesky old constable

And he kills the cherished family dog.

If anybody wishes to correct

Any of the evils I here recite,

They'd better come and join the Grange,

That stands for purity and righting wrong.

Of the seven schoolhouses in this town

They've closed the doors of five. It is the modern way!

The district school, the glory of our nation

It should be such today.

You may call me rash,

You may call me a fool,

But the men who raised this powerful nation

Were a product of the district school.

Throw back those bolts and bars,

Open wide the schoolhouse door;

Give the poor man's child a good chance

As our fathers gave of yore.

They were building schoolhouses then,

They built strong and well.

We are tearing them down today,

We have no schoolhouses to sell.

The transportation clause is all right for the cities

Or towns through which runs an electric line,

But its aid in this case is a thing to

In this rigid and tepidistic climate.

It seems to say to the poor parent

Living in the city of our State,

Get your children to school any way you can,

Let what will be their fate.

The girls will frolic round—

Run, jump, dance and sing—

But are never completely happy now.

Still they get a fellow on the string.

"This is no laughing matter,

And no matter if you laugh."

Of the growing evils of the hour

I haven't you half.

Now when the college graduate

Gets to smiling on her fellow a little extra sweet.

She has to be hustled off to a cooking school

To learn to make a biscuit fit for him to eat.

To use the old time slang,

"This is no laughing matter."

The mother is doing the housework today

While her daughter is fingering the piano.

The daughter is shipped away to the cooking crank.

Her mother at home patiently turns the best bread some of the modern brides can make

Would a shark the cramp.

A WEAK HEART.

What a Fearfully Dang- erous Thing It Is!

And Yet How Few People Heed Its Terrible Warnings.

What Does That Palpitation and Shortness of Breath Mean to You?

Persons with weak heart get out of breath easily and have palpitation on the least exertion. As it gets worse they have dizziness, swimming of the eyesight, headache, faint, sinking feelings attended by strange sensations. There is generally more or less nervousness and sleeplessness.

It is fearfully common and, neglect is fatal. You can get well by taking the right medicine now. Mrs. Fannie L. Taylor, Quilpoquet, Mass., says—

"I want to give my testimony in with the hundreds of others in regard to the value of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."

"About eleven years ago, after suffering many years with a nervous heart trouble and heart weakness, and having been treated by several eminent physicians, some of whom told me I could never be any better, I finally heard that Dr. Greene, the famous blood and nerve specialist would be at the Bay State House, Worcester, on a certain day, so I resolved to see him if possible."

Many of science and students of medicine have tried in vain for years to find a cure, but it has remained for the doctor to our own generation to find a cure. He claims to be a certain remedy for Catarrh of any organ of the body. His claims are founded on the words of hundreds of people whose honesty cannot be doubted; people who have suffered for years and tried every other known remedy without avail, people who had not faith at first but were finally cured and convinced of the wonderful power of this new discovery in medical science.

The famous physician to whom the credit belongs for this wonderful development and addition to twentieth-century science is Dr. J. A. LOMAS, 1059, Frederickson Bldg., South Bend, Ind. He will send anyone who is suffering from Catarrh a free treatment to prove the merits and wonderful curative properties of this new discovery. The Guaranteed Catarrh Cure.

Noyes Drug Store Will Return Money If Hyomel Fails. No Stomach Dosing.

Hyomel has made so many cures of the most chronic and deep seated cases of catarrh that Noyes Drug Store consider it a specific in this disease.

They extend an invitation to all catarrh sufferers to call at their store and purchase a Hyomel outfit with the distinct understanding that it will be absolutely free unless it effects a cure.

The chief reason for the unusual success of Hyomel in the treatment of catarrhal troubles and other diseases of the air passages, is the fact that it cures by a new principle, impregnating the air you breathe with healing and germ-killing balsams. On this account it reaches the seat of the disease in a way impossible to pills, drugs or other stomach dosing.

Many of Noyes Drug Store's customers who have suffered with catarrh since childhood have been cured completely by this scientific remedy.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the purse or pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomel. Extra bottles can be obtained for 50c, making it a most economical remedy for the cure of catarrh.

Do not suffer longer with catarrhal disorders, but get a Hyomel outfit from Noyes Drug Store, under their guarantee to return the money if it fails. You run no risk whatever. If it cures, the treatment is not expensive, while if it fails, Noyes Drug Store will refund your money and it costs you absolutely nothing.

Copyright, 1902, by The Bowen-Merrill Company

"For my son to associate with a low country demagogue, half the time dressed in buckskins like that shabby burgess from Louisa county you brought to dinner last week, and to go to his crazy meetings at the Raleigh. I thought his stay abroad would have weaned Frank of that. That and the commission. But, no! He comes home talking the gibberish of that moon-mouthed Charles Fox that he learned in his dreadful London club. I look yet to see him put off his king's uniform and disgrace us all."

"Fahaw!" said Colonel Byrd, nevertheless unreasonably. "Frank's all right. The young blade will take to the army like a duck to water. Zooks! There is no harm in the Apollo room. Jefferson is steady enough, and he is ever there."

"Tom Jefferson!" ejaculated the lady. "Think you he is much better? A free thinker! He and Henry are pitch and toss. La! A squeak of a fiddle, and both of them will dance. Jefferson used to be gay enough with it at Governor Fauquier's musickings. Everybody knows he spends half his time when he is in Williamsburg at the rooms of that papist actor Alberti, and so does Henry. I marvel if Francis does not know him too."

The colonel sighed. If the truth must be told, the same uneasiness was in his soul. But, being masculine, he did not admit it to his wife.

"I'll lay a crown you'll dance with Master Henry tomorrow night, Anne," volunteered Betsy wickedly.

Anne was looking through the large window, sashed with crystal glass, and there were little blue sparks snapping in her eyes. She made no reply, but under her skirt edge her red slipper, like a burnished tongue, went tapping the polished floor.

"I should think, Anne," remarked Mrs. Byrd, with acidity, toying with a rose jar from which the Duke of Cumberland had once plucked a bud, "that you would have more regard for your bringing up. I never had to be reminded of mine."

Mrs. Byrd never looked younger or more handsome than when remembering this. In her soul the soothing and ever present consciousness of being born a Willing of Philadelphia was embalmed like a fly in amber. If she could have had her way she would have had the master of Westover dining at 4, like the Cadwaladers and Shippens and the rest of the Church of England set there.

"A Tillotson," she continued raptly, "dancing at the burgesses' ball with the husband of a tavern girl!"

Anne turned, her eyes glowing the color of burning brim.

"And why not?" she cried. "Why not? Mr. Henry is a burgess of Virginia!"

"Aye, a burgess—from the woods! A lick dish for the country votes!"

"Molly!" Her husband's tone was gathering remonstrance.

"He is a gentleman!" Anne flared, with wrath dark eyes. "A courteous, honorable gentleman! And he has more in his head than any four of them together."

"Eighty tighty!" exclaimed Mrs. Byrd. "More rebellion, you mean! I should think so!"

Looking, Betsy felt a strange wonder. She did not always understand the other. "Why like you Master Henry as you do, Anne?" she asked curiously.

"Because," cried Anne hotly, "he is a man—a man—not a gallant! He has something more to do than the wits of the Raleigh tavern or the Jemmy Jessams of the assemblies. He knows no fine speeches. He spends no hours twirling a lovecock nor feather biting over dolorous sonnets, nor petting his ruffles, nor dicing in the Apollo room. Oh, I grow sick of the macaronis and their silken compliments and dress swords, all as nice as nanny hens. And the verses they write in the Gazette! 'Tis mawkish! What do they do? What do they know? The breed of a bird. The latest fashion of pinchbeck shoes buckles from Annapolis."

Mrs. Byrd sniffed.

"A pity he married the tavern keeper's daughter!" she said. "You might have had him and his buckskin breeches!"

Betsy laughed at this. "Bless me!" she sighed. "What a blow that had been for Captain Jarrat!" Then, repenting, she ran after Anne as she swept grandly out and then an arm around her neck.

"Don't be angry, dear," she said. "An you are, I shall feel all to blame!"

Paulina was still at the gate. "Hasta!" she called under her breath. "Here comes Mr. Jefferson."

"Luck!" said Betsy. "Speak of the devil—I mean—there is Mr. Henry with him."

"I marvel Mr. Jefferson likes him!" quoth Anne, a gentle sarcasm ruffling her anger.

Mistress Byrd did not note the tone. "Aye," she responded, "so do I. He has a tongue, though. Father says it has made more trouble for the colony than all the exclusion acts put together. He looks a very uncouth creature," she added. "See that moth eaten hunting cap and those horrid leather clothes!"

This was in a low tone, for the approaching men were within earshot and were even then doffing headgear to them.

The two were vastly dissimilar. One, the younger, was clad in dark velvet wore lace and a sword. His fine face was pale with the look of the scholar. The other, walking by his side, with saddlebags over his arm thrust through the bridle of a lean roan nag, wore hunting dress, with a small cap. He looked to be turned thirty-five. His face was keen and sallow, with Roman profile, and his eyes were deep set under overhanging brows. For the rest he moved his spare body awkwardly, slouchily, with a rawboned stoop of shoulders, as one at happier ease in the woods than the street. Both bowed gravely as they came up, the face of the horseman searching the group and brightening suddenly with a flash of smile at sight of Anne.

He passed on, but the younger turned back, nothing loath for a moment of chat.

"Gossiping of the ball tomorrow, I'll swear!" he laughed. "Are the fellows all chose?"

"Tell us, Mr. Jefferson," cried Betsy Byrd. "Have you seen the new come beauties? They say Lady Dunmore is lovelier than her daughters."

"I have been away for a fortnight," he answered, "and cannot say. I would I could say 'aye.'"

"You would relieve much anxiety," said Anne, "the dreadful uncertainty of your masculine lovers," Anne countered archly, "that keeps us poor maids in terror."

"'Tis said," put in Paulina, "that his excellency will publish a new code for the palace etiquette. Think of it! Just like a real court! There is like a chamberlain, and all gentlemen are to unbuckle before the portraits of the king and queen!"

"The young man looked dark. "Would he kept to his court etiquette?" he exclaimed. "See you the green yonder?"

All turned their gaze toward the lower end of the street where sat the new two storied capitol, with its tall cupola and clock. Generally there were to be seen burgesses, singly or in couples, passing in or out. Now the space before it was covered with knots of men, talking, gesticulating, walking from group to group. One could almost imagine an accompanying hum, like the sound of a distant bee swarm. As they gazed the knots separated and moved slowly toward one of the side doors.

"They enter the left," said Anne. "Tis not the usual sitting of the house, then. Has the governor summoned them to the council chamber? And for what?"

"For what?" repeated Jefferson truthfully. "For the resolves, printed today in the Gazette, appointing a day of prayer and fasting because of the shutting of the port of Boston. His excellency—I had like to have said 'his majesty'—is in a fine rage. The Virginians are in no mood to bear more floating. One can scarce say what will befall if he dissolve them!"

There was well nigh a wail at this. "Oh," moaned Mistress Byrd, "then there will be no ball!"

Jefferson smiled, but a spot of tempestuous red burned Anne's cheek as she flung up her head. "If the governor clapped all save ten of Virginia's burgesses into the prison yonder," she said slowly, "the ten would give his lady the ball of welcome. They are Virginians."

"See!" said Jefferson. "He is coming."

At the end of the broad reach which spitted Duke of Gloucester street midway, nearly opposite them, stood the palace, brick red, greened with creepers, lifting its tall lantern above gardens laid in the Italian fashion in shapes of stars and horseshoes. Now its front sprang suddenly into action. A great chariot, very splendid, with vice regal trappings of gilt and leather, whirled up at the steps, and two figures entered it. The vermilion liveried outriders broke into gallop, and the team of six milk white horses wound through the many aced grounds sown with silver grass and studded with mulberry and catalpa trunks, like gnarled, one legged dancers, and swept at a smart trot into Duke of Gloucester street.

His excellency Lord Dunmore, red and thick necked, with Captain Foy, his cold featured aid, beside him, rode to the capitol.

The splendid chariot, brought from London to awe the Virginians, went at speed along a way suddenly grown a-bustle. The unwonted summons to the council chamber had gone abroad, and Williamsburg, full to the brim with rich planters from the valleys of the Potomac, the Rappahannock and the James, now at their town houses with their families for court season, were come forth to wait and to speculate upon the royal governor's wrath. The road was filling with coaches and fours bearing the nabobs and their dames and with sparkish young gentlemen.

twirling a lovecock nor feather biting over dolorous sonnets, nor petting his ruffles, nor dicing in the Apollo room. Oh, I grow sick of the macaronis and their silken compliments and dress swords, all as nice as nanny hens. And the verses they write in the Gazette! 'Tis mawkish! What do they do? What do they know? The breed of a bird. The latest fashion of pinchbeck shoes buckles from Annapolis."

Mrs. Byrd sniffed.

Bad Dreams

Too often seemingly trifling complaints of children are put off as things of no consequence. Every unnatural action is a symptom of disorder and deserving of careful investigation. Worms more than anything else are the cause of childhood sickness. Attacking, as they do, the stomach and bowels, the effect of their presence is felt throughout the whole system and made known by nervousness, peevishness, disturbed sleep, erratic appetite, weak stomach and general lassitude.

Dr. True's Elixir

is the surest and safest worm remedy ever compounded—but it is more than that. As a tonic and general corrective it is unequalled. It tones stomach and bowels, cleanses and enriches the blood and sends renewed health tingling through the veins. For over 50 years the most popular home remedy. Sold at all druggists. NORWAY AND VICINITY

Reception to the Superintendent.

Friday evening, the teachers of Norway village schools tendered a reception to Superintendent Charles P. Barnes at the home of Miss Gardner. The reception was begun at 8 o'clock. The games of Pit and Carroms were played and a most pleasant evening spent. Ice cream and cake were served, following which was a brief musical program by Mr. and Mrs. Whitman.

Then Principal Whitman arose and in a well worded speech presented the Superintendent with a leather bound volume of Chapman's Hand-book of Birds, a gift from the teachers. Taken by surprise Mr. Barnes fittingly responded, paying the teachers a tribute that was very fine.

Mr. Barnes was greatly pleased with the gift not for its intrinsic value though that is considerable but because of the appreciation of the work he has done, and the very pleasant relations existing between himself and the teachers. Certainly both have worked very hard for the success of the schools and in the five years that Mr. Barnes has held the office the schools have increased in efficiency and have progressed all along the line.

Monday morning at 1:05 o'clock, heavy earthquake shocks awakened many people from their slumbers. There were two slight shocks followed by a heavier one a few minutes later, which rattled windows, shook furniture and made a disturbance generally.

The committee of judges at the prize speaking contest, N. H. S., held at the Opera House this Thursday evening, comprise: Rev. J. H. Little, South Paris; Prin. E. E. Hanscom, Gould Academy, Bethel; Josephine H. Hodgdon, Hebron Academy, Hebron.

Mildred L. Frost, of North Norway, celebrated her fifteenth birthday by giving a party to a few of her friends March 12. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in coasting and skating, after which a collation was served consisting of cocoa, cake, salted peanuts and candy. She was the recipient of many useful and pretty gifts. A pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all and her friends wish her many happy returns of the day.

Question in Arithmetic.

Here's one for your boys:
If the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint, and one paint goes twice as far as another, how much are those two paints worth?

If Devos is worth $1.50 or $1.75 a gallon, how much is the other one worth?
How much is a gallon of paint worth anyhow?

The answer is: Depends on the paint. The reason is: paint isn't always a paint. There are true and false paint and short-measure.

How much is a short-measure gallon worth? How much is false paint worth? How much is Devos worth?
There are millions a year in the answer to this last one.

Children's Corner.

Norway, Me., March 19, 1904.
DEAR EDITOR:—This is my first letter to the Advertiser. I like very much to read the Children's Corner. I am ten years old, I have a little sister seven years old. We are having nice times sliding on the crust.

We have had three weeks vacation, and school begins again next week, Miss Johnson, teacher. I study arithmetic, geography, grammar, reading and spelling. I think Eva McAllister's riddle is a saddle. I will send my name in figures.

11 120 8-5-18 9-14 5 6-12 9 14 20.

North Chatham, N. H., March 18, 1904.
DEAR EDITOR:—I thought I would write for the Advertiser again, my other letter escaped the waste basket so perhaps this one will.

Ethel Howe got one of my riddles right, and Ethel Millett and my cousin, Herbert Wiley, who sent his name in figures, got both of the answers right.

The little girl who sent her name in figures, of North Waterford, is Eva Mae McAllister, and the girl from Lovell Center is Isabelle Andrews, and the answer to her riddle is "Sun". I think I do not know the answer to Eva McAllister's riddle. I wish the next time she wrote she would please answer it. The answer to cousin Herbert's riddle is, because it is often rung.

I have three brothers and one sister. The boys are all married and have children. My brothers names are Will, Wes and John, my sister's name is Louise. I have three nephews and one niece, their names are Robert, Neil, Raymond and Evelyn live in the same house that I do.

Yours truly, LEMMA CHANDLER.

Candidate for Legislature.

The friends of Henry H. Hastings, esq., of Bethel have announced his candidacy for representative to the Legislature. Mr. Hastings is chairman of the republican county committee and a rising member of the legal profession. He has only been in practice for a few years, but has already a large clientele. His speech in the county convention nominating Hon. John M. Philbrook of Bethel for senator, two years ago, gave him a great reputation in the county as a brilliant speaker. Mr. Hastings would undoubtedly make a very useful member of the Legislature.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., tells how she was permanently cured of inflammation of the ovaries, and escaped the surgeon's knife, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The universal indications of the approach of woman's great enemy, inflammation and disease of the ovaries, are a dull throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with occasional shooting pains. On examination it may be found that the region of pain will show some swelling. This is the first stage of inflammation of the ovaries.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation. I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

Another woman saved from a surgical operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read what she says:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. If it had not been for your medicine, I think I would have died.

"I will tell you how I suffered. I could hardly walk, was unable to sleep or eat. Menstruation was irregular. At last I had to stay in my bed, and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor, who said I had inflammation of the ovaries, and must go through an operation, as no medicine could help me, but I could not do that.

"I received a little book of yours, and after reading it, I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman. I shall praise your medicine as long as I live, and also recommend the same to anyone suffering as I was."—MRS. MINNIE OTTOSON, Otho, Iowa.

All sick women would be wise if they would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be well.

Sunday morning about 2 o'clock the farm buildings of Charles Merrill near Narrows bridge were consumed by fire. Saturday afternoon, Mr. Merrill and wife went to the village, and after supper spent the evening at a neighbor's, retiring upon their return without building a fire in the kitchen stove. About 2 o'clock he awoke and hearing a snapping sound and opening the chamber door the fire in flames. Only a few neighbors arrived in season to be of assistance. They saved the stock and horse, sleigh, sleds and the furniture in the main part of the house, but lost what was in the ell including eight dollars' worth brought in Saturday. They moved on the place less than a year ago and had made many improvements. Insured in the Lovell Mutual for $500.

BUCKFIELD.

The Expected Happened. A fellow came around the other day peddling oranges. "Can't I sell you some oranges?" "No I guess not." He came along, cut one in two and gave another man and myself each a half. "Well take half a dozen," said the other man. I remarked, "We have got to buy since he treated." These thoughts came to my mind, "He has got some bangers," and he did have and we got them. It was done slick and we have no fault to find. The expected happened.

I called on John N. Irish on the first day of the week and found him greatly improved. He had received a long letter from an old newspaper friend, the editor of the Manchester Union, which in the language of Comical Brown, "he pursued to me." The letter was lengthy, and very interesting as his letters always are, and a season of refreshing for John of better effect than medicine to cheer.

C. M. Irish and wife have lately returned from Florida where they have spent several weeks at Fort Myers. Mr. Irish and his brother H. A., have set out 50,000 trees. Ike Shaw and wife remain there. Now is the season for Mr. Shaw's business of taxidermy. Tarpon fishing is said to be great sport and these are included in his work. Mr. Irish said he had one to set up, if I remember rightly, 10 feet long, weighing 140 pounds. Thanks Mr. Shaw for a grape fruit. It was very nice, and we have the rind dried for a saucer.
